MEXICAN EMBASSY AT WASHINGTON RECEIVES FORMAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF MEXICO'S LATEST MOVE.

BATTLES ARE BEING FOUGHT

Troops Start On Their First Real "Hike"—Artillery, Cavalry and Infantry in Party As Well As An Airship Observer.

Washington, D. C., March 16.—Formal notice of the action of the Mexican congress yesterday in carrying out the recommendation of President Diaz for the suspension of constitutional guarantees was received at Mexican embassy today.

This action is given for the publicity of the embassy in order that Americans who may be tempted to cast their lot with the insurgents may be duly warned of consequences that may follow.

Left New York, March 16.—The sudden departure from New York of Mexican minister Finance Limantour after a week of conferences and negotiation the precise nature of which has not hitherto been clear is now explained by understanding that he succeeded in effecting a tentative plan by which substantial reforms are expected to be immediately put in force by the Mexican government, and leading insurgents being satisfied are to add in restoring peace.

Hurrying Home, March 16.—Juan Limantour, the Mexican minister of finance passed through Columbus today hurrying from New York to Mexico in response to important secret messages.

Town Terrorized, March 16.—Juarez spent a sleepless night with the streets patrolled by a double force of guards and practically the entire garrison under arms.

ANTI-LIQUOR MEN WIN FIRST ROUND IN LEGISLATURE

First Fight Comes Off and Donhardt, Frammer of Bill Throws Glove Into Legislative Arena.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., March 16.—The first fight on the liquor question at this session of the legislature occurred last night, and the anti-liquor element had the satisfaction of winning at a walk. In fact, after the fireworks had been exhausted everybody, nearly, jumped on the bandwagon and threw the harpoon into King Alcohol. The bill was Donhardt's, 161 A., prohibiting the sale or giving away of liquor at public auction. Donhardt, who is an anti-liquor man, said that he knew from long observation that farmers and others who are filled with liquor at sales are excited to reckless action, leading them to buy needlessly and he quoted from the statutes which says that "notes obtained by fraud or given by an intoxicated person cannot be collected." He deprecated the custom of getting young boys drunk at auctions.

Assemblyman Richter offered several amendments in succession, the first proposing that the sale of "squirrel whiskey" be prohibited at auctions. No one seemed to know what that brand is like and Richter failed to enlighten the house. Another amendment sought to lower the amount of the fine.

Assemblyman Dornier spoke against the bill and moved indefinite postponement. Assemblyman Gettle made a vigorous speech favoring the Donhardt bill. He said the question of minimizing the effects of indeliberate handling of liquor was one too serious for facious consideration, that auctions are a common scene of drunken debauches, and that the bill should pass.

Assemblyman Long became eloquent in support of the bill, saying he had seen more drunkenness at auctions than at any one place, that he had seen men under the influence of liquor sign notes, and declared in closing he would vote for the bill.

Assemblyman Wheeler opposed the bill, saying it was an insult to the American farmer. He said that liquor

FAMINE SUFFERERS SELLING CHILDREN

Starving People in Parts of China Have Parted With Offspring in Order to Procure Food.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)

Washington, March 16.—That the only salable property remaining to the starving people in the Chinese counties of Nanchow and Mongchen are their children, which are being exchanged for food is the statement of Consul Wilber, in a report to the State Department from Nanchow, China. In these two counties alone, he estimates the number of starving at not less than three quarters of a million.

Outside the city of Nanchow, one hundred thousand famine refugees are without food or clothing, and are sleeping in the mud in the open air. Thousands are even lying in the water, the living mingling with the corpses of the dead, which the authorities have failed to remove from the refugee camps.

In the famine districts the people are dying so rapidly that no attempt is made to number the fatalities. By imperial edict, taxes have been remitted in three of the famine districts, and it is expected that similar action will be taken throughout the entire famine region.

Consul Wilber reports that the money contributed for famine relief is being honestly expended. The American Red Cross and the State Department are co-operating in sending the money contributed in the United States to China, but much more is needed.

NEW QUESTION HAS ARISEN IN SENATE

Problem Is Whether Ex-Senators As Members of Monetary Commission Shall Be Allowed Offices.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)

Washington, March 16.—A problem confronting the Monetary Commission and the Senate Committee on rules concerns the housing of some of the members of the commission. Six of them who were members of the Senate when they were appointed to the commission retired to private life at the adjournment of Congress on March 4. As Senators they occupied luxurious offices in the public marble building and they should be permitted the use of the suites as members of the commission. Their senatorial salaries of $7,500 a year continue as monetary commissioners and they fall to see any good reason why they should be deprived of the marble and mahogany senatorial working quarters.

The members of the commission who became ex-Senators at the close of Congress were Aldrich, Burrows, Hale, Money, Flint and Talladega. Appointments were thrown to the latter two like life lines a few minutes before the Senate adjourned.

Aldrich, as chairman of the finance committee and of the Monetary commission, controlled half a dozen rooms, one of which, a large one, has become famous as the room in which the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill was handled. With all this work reduced to the invention of a law to reform the currency system of the country Aldrich may give half of his reservation. Other members have desirable suites of two rooms.

Former Senator Teller of Colorado, a commissioner has held his suite since he left the Senate two years ago. As that involved only a single pair of rooms it attracted no attention.

With six or more senators to provide for, the committee on rules finds it a task for serious discussion. A score of new Senators will be coming in soon and it is suspected that they will desire the best quarters available. No commissioners created by Congress except the monetarists will have quarters in the office building.

TO INVESTIGATE LOBBY METHODS

RESOLUTION AGAINST CERTAIN "FINGERS OF THE INTERESTS" TO BE INTRODUCED TONIGHT.

ROYCRAFT IS THE AUTHOR

Speaker Ingram Satisfied That Much Illegal Lobbying Is Going on in Legislative Hall.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., March 16.—A modern "awful of Damocles" is suspended over the heads of the lobbyists who have been active at the present session of the Wisconsin legislature.

At tonight's session of the assembly there will be presented by Assemblyman Thomas Roycraft a joint resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of five—three from the assembly and two from the senate—to investigate alleged illegal acts of paid legislative agents and report at an early day.

The resolution was drawn early in the week after Speaker Ingram and several leaders in the assembly had satisfied themselves that only a small proportion of the lobbyist population of the capital was registered with the secretary of state, as required by law, and they also are satisfied that the activity of many persons, registered and unregistered, has been the direct result of attempts to influence members personally in regard to pending legislation. It is considered significant that up to the present time about 275 have registered, but that there are perhaps as many more who have not obeyed the law and are working for the most part secretly. Compared to the session two years ago, when hardly two dozen lobbyists had signed their names in Secretary Frear's "red book," the increase at this session is laid entirely to the statement of the speaker at the outset that it was the intention of the assembly to see that the law is obeyed.

A half dozen men who have been conspicuous around the statehouse during the session so far, and who have appeared before many of the committees, but have been working among the members personally, are the ones at whom the resolution is particularly directed. It is said that Speaker Ingram has had "alibis" working for him for over a month, and that considerable evidence has been gathered by them. Even if no further evidence is secured, however, that will justify prosecutions, supporters of the movement for an investigation feel that the institution of such a probe in itself will have a salutary effect upon those at whom it is aimed.

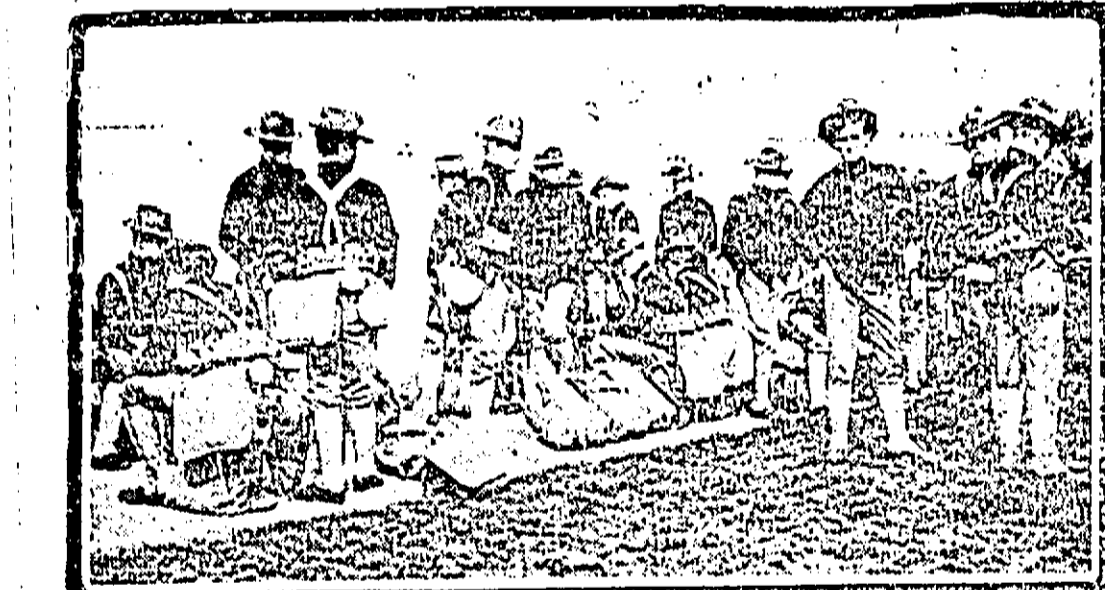

The following is the full text of the resolution: "Whereas, by chapter 472, laws of 1905, the legislature of this state determined that it should be unlawful for any person employed for a pecuniary consideration, to act as legislative counsel or legislative agent or to attempt personally or directly to influence any member of the legislature to vote for or against any measure pending therein, otherwise than before the regular committees thereof when in session, or by newspaper publications or by public addresses or by written or printed statements, arguments or briefs, delivered to each member of the legislature and that before such arguments should be delivered by such paid lobbyist, twenty-five copies thereof, should be deposited with the secretary of state;

"And, Whereas, it appears that up to and including the 15th day of March, 1911, during the present session, 275 registrations as lobbyists or legislative counsel and agents have been recorded in the office of the secretary of state as required by law and that the only publications of arguments delivered or proposed to be delivered before committees to be filed with such official, were three pamphlets on pure food laws, two pamphlets on the Kenosha Electric Railway company, and four pamphlets on the excise law;

"And, Whereas, The law is being openly and notoriously violated by the failure to file such pamphlets and further by the personal importunities and solicitations of lobbyists or legislative counsel and agents with members, contrary to the statutes;

"And, Whereas, Such boast and insinuation is unwarranted, unjustified and is an insult to the members of this legislature; Therefore, be it

Resolved, by the assembly, the senate concurring, that a committee of two members of the senate and three of the assembly, be appointed to investigate the facts in reference to the illegal and unauthorized activities of said registered lobbyists or legislative counsel and agents and of all persons not registered, attempting directly or indirectly to improperly influence members of the legislature, and report to each house without delay, in order that the members of the legislature may be relieved from the further personal importunities of said lobbyists and agents and other persons. BUYING NEARLY COMPLETED NOW

ONLY VERY FEW SCATTERING CROPS ARE FELT IN STATE ACCORDING TO TOBACCO DEALERS.

NEWS IN THE LOCAL MARKET

Work of Sorting Continues Without Interruption—One Warehouse Has Finished—Business Fairly brisk.

There are but very few crops of the 1910 tobacco in the state which remain in the hands of the growers. All the best of the crop has been picked up and what few crops do remain are either inferior or in remote parts. The dealers have stopped piling through the country and most of their time is devoted to receiving, superintending the work of sorting and packing and planning the sale campaign for the 1910 lots.

From the present indications it is believed that the market for the new packings will be fairly good, as a number of the dealers have already shipped small consignments to the east and at least one shipment from here during the past week, that of John Sullivan, has been made for export. While the crop this year was generally better than last year, it is now showing up much better and some very fine lots have been received. The fact that the leaf was bought at a lower price this season and can be put on the market at a reasonable figure is one of the causes for the present demand.

One of the warehouses here, that of H. L. Miller, has finished sorting after a run of between nine and ten weeks, and the final packing and clearing up is now being done there. When the work is finished some 500 cases will be the total packing at this warehouse.

Other dealers continue the work of sorting without interruption and among those who have been planning to put their small packings, present prospects are that they will finish in about a month, while others will run their forces until the first and middle of June. There will be three or four warehouses which will probably continue working for that length of time.

There has been a good deal of the leaf delivered this week among those who have received it. The American Tobacco Company, some 60,000 pounds today, and two carloads yesterday; P. S. Baines took in several carloads at Edgerton yesterday and is receiving a car at Madison today; Sanford Soverhill, T. E. Welsh and John Sullivan have also received varying amounts.

There is not much activity in old tobacco at present but several large transactions are reported to be in the process of formation. T. E. Welsh shipped a car of '09 this week and also a car of the new crop mostly low grades, to eastern dealers. Although it is early in the season there is some speculation as to the prospects for the tobacco crop this year. In the opinion of most of the tobacco men the average will be slightly increased all over the state compared with last year. There were a large number of growers last year who were badly affected by the drought and the severity of plants last season. Should conditions be normal the present season much of the acreage which was not planted last year will be regained this. However, the total average will undoubtedly not be over the general average for the past several years.

REGULAR MEETING OF THE W. C. T. U.

Organization Spent Afternoon in Business Session and in Making Plans for County Convention.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at their hall Wednesday afternoon and evening. At six o'clock a delightful picnic supper was served, and this was followed by an evening program, the subject being "Scientific Temperance Instruction," with Mrs. Geo. Jacobs as leader. A "quiz" was conducted and taken part in by all present, which proved both interesting and instructive. A duet was rendered by Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Jacobs, accompanied by Miss McCarthy, and interesting papers were read by Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Jacobs. Mrs. Hoffman again responded with a short address. The Beloit Union has extended an invitation to the Janesville Union to meet with them on Friday afternoon, and it is hoped a goodly number will accept the invitation.

Coming here from Fond du Lac, where she is wanted for the theft of a number of articles of women's wearing apparel, Lucile Sherman was last evening arrested by the Janesville police and held here until this noon. On the arrival of an officer from the northern city today she was returned to Fond du Lac. The young woman left Fond du Lac on Friday night and came to Janesville on Monday, going to the St. Charles hotel, where she was found by the police. Yesterday afternoon a letter was received from the Fond du Lac department asking Chief Appleby to look for and arrest, if found, a young woman whose description fitted Miss Sherman fairly well. She is charged with stealing five silk waists, a white linen waist, lingerie, one pink silk chemise, five white linen chemises, three dolmans and several handkerchiefs. A trunk and two valises were taken with the Sherman woman and the articles described were found in the articles. The woman who is evidently a member of the class of underclass, is tall with light complexion and light yellow hair. She claims that the goods were placed in her trunk by another person who packed it when she was ordered out of Fond du Lac by the police.

BELOIT WON FINAL GAME OF SEASON

Overwhelmingly Defeated Ripon in Last Basketball Game of Season With Score of 24 to 5.

Beloit, March 16.—In the final game of its basketball season, Beloit college overwhelmed Ripon by the one-sided score of 24 to 5, here last night. Although Beloit was handicapped by the loss of Capt. Miles, and Spooner, she had no difficulty in conquering her rivals. The team work and defensive play of the Beloit men far outclassed that of their opponents, so that Ripon was able to score only two field goals in the whole game. The game was full of tough play and excitement throughout, but the result was not in doubt at all after the first five minutes of play. Puffer played a brilliant game, while Murphy played in his usual confident and heady manner, making several difficult throws by the nearest fraction.

As a preliminary to the final game, the closing contest of the inter-collegiate basketball championship race was played by the Juniors and Freshmen. The game was a hot one, ending with the score 10 to 7 in favor of the upper classmen.

These games close the basketball season for this year, and now all attention will be directed toward basketball, in which outdoor practice has already commenced. Beloit has high hopes of a season as successful in that sport as in football and basketball.

Line-up, Beloit-Ripon game:

SEE BIG PEACE PACT

ARBITRATION TREATY BETWEEN U.S. AND ENGLAND POSSIBLE.

Draft of Convention May Be Ready for Submission to Extra Session of Congress.

Washington, March 16.—Action on a treaty between the United States and Great Britain providing for unlimited arbitration on all questions affecting the two countries, is more than a possibility at the extra session of congress which convenes April 4.

It is known that Secretary of State Knox and the British ambassador, James Bryce, have discussed such a pact to the extent of exchanging opinions, but the provisions of such a treaty have not yet been committed to paper.

Now that England so far as her press is concerned has taken the attitude of commendation of Sir Edward Grey's offer in the house of commons to conclude such an agreement with the United States, the natural consideration of a step of this nature appears to be materially closer. The fact that negotiations have proceeded so far that a treaty can be drafted and put in shape to be presented to congress shortly after the opening, raises the question to a position of unusual, almost imminent, importance.

Advocates of world-peace will avail themselves of this opportunity to urge action as the accomplishment of such a treaty has been characterized as "The greatest step that can be taken towards the ultimate eradication of war."

The noteworthy feature of the treaty as suggested by President Taft is the proposed agreement to submit all questions, even those involving national honor, to arbitration. Heretofore such questions have been expressly excluded from arbitration agreements, and the pending arrangement already takes to itself the honor of being the most comprehensive movement towards a guarantee of peace between the two countries that has ever been initiated.

The most important single difficulty that presents itself to an agreement of this kind so far as the United States senate is concerned is the insistence of that chamber on its constitutional right to pass upon every question that involves the national honor. The action of the senate on a treaty which does away with this privilege cannot, of course, be forecasted. The attitude of the senate on this question will not be settled until it declares itself either for or against the ratification of the treaty when submitted.

TAFT TOASTED BY CHILEANS

President of South American Republic Gives Banquet to Officers of Battleship Delaware.

Valparaiso, Chile, March 16.—President Barros gave a banquet for Captain Cove, Commander Phelps and the officers of the American battleship Delaware, American Minister Fletcher was a guest, as were members of the cabinet and high officials of the Chilean army and navy.

In offering a toast to President Taft, the American navy and Minister Fletcher, the minister of marine said that Chile appreciated the new evidence of American friendship presented in the visit of the battleship which brought home the body of Anibal Cruz, Chilean minister at Washington. Responding, Mr. Fletcher outgazed the career of Anibal Cruz and said that President Taft had sent the best wish in the navy to show the world the strength of the ties between America and Chile.

ZELAYA SCENTS PLOT

DECLARES U. S. STIRS UP CENTRAL AMERICAN DISCORD.

Late Nicaragua President Explains to Europe That This Nation Will Dominate Western Hemisphere.

Paris, March 16.—Jose Santos Zelaya, who was compelled to relinquish the presidency of Nicaragua at the time of the recent revolution, gave an interview to Le Siecle in which he violently attacked the attitude of the United States toward the Mexican affair.

Zelaya charges that the United States government, inspired by the prospect of commercial and financial gain, is waging a merciless war not only with Mexico, but against the whole of Central America, which it seeks to absorb so as to become absolute master of the western hemisphere.

He asserts, too, that the United States is deliberately inciting revolutions in Latin-America that they may serve as excuses for intervention. He pictures President Diaz of Mexico, "my friend and a grand, courageous old man, who despite his eighty years plunges daily in a cold bath and rides his horse like a gentleman," as "patriotically and bravely but vainly resisting American encroachments."

THRILLING STORY STARTS TO UNFOLD.

Tomorrow's issue of the Gazette will contain the first installment of the new book, "The Bronze Bell, an East Indian Mystery story of a bright little American in an interesting romance."

IN DANGER OF STARVATION

Many Deaths Thought to Have Occurred as Result of Cold in Labrador.

North Sydney, C. B., March 16.—That the rigorous winter has caused extreme suffering and probably many deaths in the barren Labrador peninsula, which has been isolated for months by great ice fields, is the fear felt here.

The last report from the north, received here last fall, said that the food supplies were almost exhausted and that hundreds of the natives were on the verge of starvation.

Repeated efforts have been made to carry supplies to the district, but vessels have failed to pierce the ice fields which choke the strait of Belle Isle.

The misfortunes of the Labrador natives had their beginning in the failure of last season's fishing catch. It was the poorest in years.

The participants entered upon the evening's merriment in a joyous manner and passed the hours away at cards, music and dancing and closing with a mid-night supper. The Maddens will move to this city shortly, having bought the Henry Wileman property in the first ward.

Jap's Original Idea.

A young Japanese who recently committed suicide by leaping into the crater of the volcano at Asama, left behind him a note, in which he said: "Suffering a feeling of despair impels me to throw myself into the crater of vehement Asama, thus winning a splendid death, and ascending the mountain's smoke to a lofty life above the sky."

The Question ? Whether Or Not to Join the Skavlem Piano Club

The time to start to choose a musical education is now, the time to put music into your home is now, just as the time to live and love and fight, and carry on every purpose and function of life is now and not tomorrow.

A lady came in yesterday to buy a piano. She was undecided. She did not know whether to buy an old, well-known make or join the Skavlem Piano Club.

She was afraid that a good piano could not be sold at the Club price ($277.50). There must be something wrong with it, else it would not be sold at so low a price.

We showed her all the good points about the piano and explained the club plan the best we could; but still she couldn't see it, and, like some other women, she couldn't be convinced. It wound up by her buying a Baldwin. She paid 5 hundred and 75 dollars for it, 50 dollars cash and 20 dollars a month—though she said that the terms of the Club Piano (5 dollars cash and a dollar and a quarter a week) would have suited her much better just at this time.

Now, we tell this incident because it has a moral; because many more persons may be in the same frame of mind.

The moral of the incident is this: that that lady could have joined the Skavlem Piano Club and if, as she said, the Club terms best suited her just now, she should have done so, and we will tell you why.

She would not have to have taken a chance of any kind in joining the Club.

In the first place, if she had desired it, we would, within 30 days, have given her money back. In the second place, she would have had a whole year to have tried the Club piano. If the year's trial of the piano was not satisfactory she could then have gotten the Baldwin and had all her Club payments transferred to the Baldwin without the loss of a single penny.

In other words, according to our written agreement, she could have joined the Skavlem Piano Club; gotten her piano; paid only 5 dollars down and 1 dollar and 25 cents a week for a whole year (which she said would have best suited her), and at the end of the year gotten a Baldwin, had her Club money transferred to her credit on the Baldwin, and then began her payments of 20 dollars a month. By doing this, don't you see, she would have had a whole year of the easiest kind of payments on the Club plan, had the use of a Club piano a whole year for absolutely nothing and a year hence had a brand new Baldwin in her home instead of one a year old.

See the point?

As we said above, we tell this story, thinking that there might be others in the same frame of mind.

For the convenience of people who cannot come in during the day the store will be open every evening until 10 o'clock.

The Skavlem Club Plan Told In a Few Brief Sentences

- 1—The value of the Skavlem Club Piano is $375.
- 2—The price to Skavlem Club Members is $277.50.
- 3—The terms are $5.00 cash when you join, then $1.25 per week for 218 weeks.
- 4—The piano will be delivered when you join, or later, as you wish.
- 5—The weekly payments of $1.25 begin when the piano is delivered.
- 6—Every instrument is guaranteed without reserve—for ten years. There are no "ifs" or "ands" in the guarantee—just a straight-out guarantee as strong as we know how to make it in writing.
- 7—If, after 30 days' trial, the piano is not satisfactory, we will give you your money back.
- 8—If the piano is satisfactory after 30 days' use, the club member has eleven more months in which to satisfy himself as to the character of the piano. If it does not then prove to be everything that he expects, he has the privilege of exchanging it without one penny's loss for any other instrument of equal or greater value that we sell—and we sell over thirty different representative makes.
- 9—If a club member dies during the life of his contract we will immediately send a receipt in full to his family for the instrument.
- 10—A beautiful stool and scarf to match the piano is included without extra cost.
- 11—The piano will be tuned twice without charge.
- 12—There is positively no interest added.

BLOWS OWN HORN.

There is a saying that some people blow their own horn instead of permitting the public to judge of the merits of their work. This may be true in some cases, but when it comes to a corporation, such as the city of Janesville, the horn should be blown good and hard so that the world may know the advantages of this city as a manufacturing center to locate in, and as a healthful community.

A prosperous city, located in the center of a rich agricultural district, Janesville has many advantages to offer to the public if they will but see it that way, and the one way to make them understand what they are missing by not locating in Janesville, is by telling them so. The Industrial and Commercial association is doing much in this line and they need the support of the citizens generally. "Hanging close to the line and letting the chips fall where they may." The city is about to hold a spring election at which five aldermen, five county supervisors, school commissioners, a city clerk and a mayor are to be chosen. One way to show civic pride is to vote for the best men for the office they seek and many of the voters would be glad to hear from the candidates themselves as to the qualifications for the important positions they are candidates for. Perhaps after the primary day nominations are made there will be more excitement, but at the present time there does not seem to be much interest displayed. The Gazette stands for the best in civic life and believes in the moral uplift of the community. It is to be regretted that the ordinances which relate to the sale of liquor on Sundays, or keeping the shops where liquor is sold, open on this day, are not sufficiently strong to insure convictions when arrests are made, but the remedy for this lies with the council and they should either pass a good, strong ordinance, rescinding the one now useless, or strengthen the one now on the books so that it can be effective. Janesville is a city to be proud of and the citizens should remember it and blow the horn of praise whenever it is possible to do so.

ARBOR DAY.

The American public may have partially forgotten that the Hon. J. Sterling Morton was the man who in 1872 induced the Nebraska board of agriculture to proclaim the first Arbor day and to urge the prairie farmers of his state to plant trees on that occasion. But since then the influence of that action has resulted in the adoption of the idea by forty-four states, including Nebraska, while Canada, England, Italy, Australia, Sweden, Spain, South Africa and New Zealand also have accorded it recognition. Yet for a time, or until a few years ago, public interest in Arbor day seemed on the wane. Later, the zealous manner in which the national and state governments took a hand in preserving American timber lands tended to divert attention somewhat from the necessity of supplementing these official efforts by individual planting of trees. But there are still plenty of opportunities to maintain the significance of Arbor day by improving the appearance of communities as did the prairie farmers of Nebraska some forty years ago.

At this time—more than a month before Governor Foster's Arbor day proclamation is issued in Massachusetts—it would be an excellent plan for every person to think how he may plant a tree to the best advantage and experience the feeling that he has performed a duty. Arbor day is not proclaimed because the people need a holiday. As a direct result of the Morton resolution, more than a million trees were planted that first year in Nebraska. Such a performance could be multiplied immeasurably if every citizen of every state planted a tree this year. The great work which the national and state governments are doing in the forests may be supplemented to advantage by men, women and children who plant trees on the barren places in the vicinity of their homes.

Perhaps the best way in which to make Arbor day thoroughly effective, however, is to have the families in each town or village work together for public betterment. A city or town might be taken in hand by communities who would study carefully the shade-tree problems and report at a public meeting. Then the plans and recommendations might be discussed and altered in such manner as seemed to be expedient. It would be possible in some communities to lay out beautiful parks where now there are waste places, and to beautify many streets where trees now are lacking. And now is the time to begin the planning or, better still, the planting.

Alderman Buchholz introduced into the common council at the last session an order that the streets and alleys be cleaned up and kept clean. Perhaps the high winds of the past few days have overcome the work that was accomplished, but certainly no one would ever know that the streets have had their spring cleaning. However, it is safe to say that having passed this excellent order once the members of the council will see that it is enforced.

Tomorrow is St. Patrick's day and be sure and wear your bit of green if you wish to be loyal to the traditions of the past centuries. American owes much to the little Emerald Isle across the sea and all can pay their respects by wearing their emblems on this one day of the year which is in memory of past glories. The Irishmen will celebrate the day with appropriate ceremonies.

Down in Texas they are still playing that "war game" and meanwhile Europe sits back and wonders what has really happened to Uncle Sam that he is becoming so militant all at once. Before the summer is over the soldiers will understand lots, more about war than they ever did before.

The last gasp of winter is the way the weather forecasters describe the wind and cold of the past two days. Well, perhaps it is, but we must remember that March came in like a lamb and is certain to go out like a lion, so do not plant your garden even if it does turn warm again.

Illinois societies are having a fine time now passing resolutions asking both Senators Cullom and Lorimer to resign. It will be a mere waste of explosives as both men will stay in office as long as the law permits them to and even now Cullom is seeking to be elected for another term.

Japan may have planned for naval bases in Mexico but it is safe to say now that they will not secure them without a serious protest from the United States. Sometimes the mailed fist amounts to something beyond being a figure of speech.

So the Milwaukee socialists are going to call a grand jury to investigate what former Chairman Connor of the last pre-primary campaign, did with the $114 that he spent. Well, perhaps they can find out, but it seems a waste of money.

Even Brazil does not take kindly to the "Harem skirt" idea and the police have to request women wearing them to leave restaurants to prevent riots. As an idea to the suffragist why not put that in your platform as well as "votes for women."

Some Breath. Chicago Inter Ocean: The Weather Man struck it right with his "first" of spring—yesterday, but he is a rash man if he ventures any farther.

One On Emil.

Beloit News: Mayor Emil Seidel yesterday appended for all for Milwaukee's unemployed. And we were just being led to think there could be no unemployed in a socialist town!

Means Business.

Fond du Lac Reporter: And now the militiamen have been "fired" to the front and the war game will begin.

I Told You So.

Milwaukee Free Press: Late developments will serve to satisfy Capt. Holmson that he was warranted in uttering a warning against Japan.

No "Probable Cause."

Chicago Record-Herald: One of New England's many preachers makes the announcement that American women have ceased to blush. (Bait?) Why should any woman ever blush at what a good preacher says to her?

Nice Work, Ladies!

Madison Democrat: Anyway, such a magnificent showing for their cause should entitle Wisconsin women to have most anything they want.

Russia Again Hurls.

Milwaukee Sentinel: We are told that Russia has hurled another ultimatum at China. If the czar keeps on he won't have any ultimatums left.

Unexpected Attack.

Milwaukee Journal: The horrible sufferings of war in the southwest have begun. A warm rain attacked the soldiers unexpectedly and all their land to be changed.

Rather Embarrassing.

Oshkosh Northwestern: And to say the least it would have been rather embarrassing to Uncle Sam if he had been required to return that $25,000,000 which he has already collected from the corporations.

All Eyes On Texas.

Rockford Republic: With Ted and troops both within its borders Texas is gaining national importance.

No Mind For Business.

Monroe Times: If Mr. Bryan had bought that Texas farm instead of running for president, he might now be selling water melons to the soldiers, which would be much better fun.

Lots of Worse Things.

Chicago Times: It is possible that the fate of Harry Thaw had something to do with the hasty dropping of the insanity plea in the Robin bank-wrecking case in New York.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYR

THERE WAS A MAN.

Stories of dauntless doing never grow old.

They cannot be told too often. In the waste of ruin wrought by the tidal waves on the night of Sept. 8, 1900, when the city of Galveston was overwhelmed as if it were a thing of sand built by children's play, in all that wreck of life and property one man stood out alone—

Richard Spillane, operator. Six thousand dead and dying lay in the streets. Frankly, the mayor said to Spillane, the telegraph operator, "My God, what shall we do?"

"Do?" said Spillane. "We must get in touch with the world. I'll go."

Clothed only in a nightgown, huen trousers, carpet slippers and a cap—there was a man inside—Spillane started in a lurch.

Struggling with the current for two hours before he got to land, he started on his long tramp to Houston, forty miles away.

The water was over the tracks in many places. The air was stifling hot. The dye in the slippers poisoned his feet. His tongue thickened with thirst. His legs swelled to twice their size. His eyes started from his head. His brain reeled. But on and on went Spillane.

At midnight he staggered into a telegraph office in Houston muttering: "Give me a key. Galveston is gone." Herod Spillane? Gay, gallant, splendid, manful, heroic, but—

The half had not been told. His first message was to the president. Then the editor of a New York newspaper wired, "Five thousand dollars for an exclusive story."

"Impossible," replied Spillane. "Same your own price, then."

"I am not selling the lives of 30,000 people at any price."

Temptation? The man was penniless, homeless, wife and children naked and hungry. Put yourself in his place. Pushing aside the offer of a fortune, Spillane sat down and through one of the press associations told the whole world the details of the disaster and urged the need of instant help.

Can you match the story? Above the wreck of matter and the crush of worlds there stood the figure of a man.

Or, if you choose to put it into higher terms, there was a man sent from God whose name was Spillane.

Color Scheme.

"Going to have music, a procession and a public meeting at your wedding, are you, Rusty?"

"Yes, huh."

"Isn't that a good deal of red tape?"

"No, huh; you can't call a cuffed hand red tape."—Chicago Tribune.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)
By WALT MASON.

The wise man said, one summer day: "Now eggs are cheap, for all I care, and so I'll buy a million legs of these absurdly low priced eggs, and store them till the blizzards come, when hen fruit plans works are out of plum, and then I'll bring them from my store, and clear a ton of wealth or more." And so he leased a building tall, and filled it up from wall to wall, with oodles of refreshing eggs. In crates, in boxes and in kegs, and then he waited for the time of shivering sales and snow and time, and planned a trip to home and work, with some dry nights in New York. The winter came along full of snow, but "what a summer matter for June," the whizzing tempest didn't whiz, the raging blizzard failed to bliz; the home were sure the month was May, and each sold seven eggs a day. The man of eggs soon went insane; which shows that human plans are vain. It also seems good evidence that hens have mighty little sense.

MORTAL COME, when hen fruit plans works are out of plum, and then I'll bring them from my store, and clear a ton of wealth or more." And so he leased a building tall, and filled it up from wall to wall, with oodles of refreshing eggs. In crates, in boxes and in kegs, and then he waited for the time of shivering sales and snow and time, and planned a trip to home and work, with some dry nights in New York. The man of eggs soon went insane; which shows that human plans are vain. It also seems good evidence that hens have mighty little sense.

Beyond His Powers. An interesting statement by Thackeray was once made to the late Prof. Masson: "D'ya know," he said, "that though I can describe an Irishman perfectly, I never could describe a Scotchman?" I reminded him of Mr. Blaine. "Oh, he said, 'that's not what I mean; that's a mere facsimile of a man I know; a mere description from life. But what I mean is I couldn't invent a Scotchman.'"

Betrothed in Infancy. In some parts of west Africa the girls have long engagements. On the day of their birth they are betrothed to a baby boy a trifle older than themselves, and at the age of 20 they are married. The girls know no other way of getting a husband and so they are quite happy and satisfied. As wives they are patterns of obedience, and the marriages usually turn out successful.

Rats Grind Off Their Teeth. A curiously marked stone has been found at Colchester, Devonshire, England, in the middle of a wheat field, and geologists who have seen it express the opinion that the markings on the stone were caused by rats using it to grind their teeth, which otherwise grow to an inordinate length. Some rats have been known to starve owing to their teeth getting too long.

Better Away from Home. A nautch dance at the Alhambra in Leicester square is one of the most fascinating spectacles it has ever been our fortune to witness, but a nautch dance beneath a Hindu chandlaria is the tamest thing the European eye can gaze upon. The nautch is one of India's disappointments, one of the things in which the imitation easily excels the reality.—Pioneer Mail.

Statue Found Husband. A Chicago woman prayed for 15 years before the plaster image of the saint interested in such matters for a husband. Her faith finally failed and she threw the image out of her window. That did the business. When the man with the broken head opened his eyes it was to gaze into those of the unwilling spinster. She nursed him back to life, married life.

Care of the Eyes. Good night is among the greatest blessings of life, and it behooves women for their own sake to take good care of their eyes. When you have nothing to do, when you are simply resting, close your eyes and let them rest also. As long as the eyes are open they are at work to a greater or less extent, and oculars will tell you that the moisture of the closed lids is good for them.

Better Than Riding Donkey. A little boy was sitting on one of the benches in Central park, New York, watching people ride the donkeys. Finally an exceedingly fat woman appeared, hired a donkey, and was just about to mount, when she saw the small boy and said to him: "Little boy, don't you want to ride a donkey for you, too?" "No, thank you," said the boy, "I'd rather sit here and laugh."

Roused the Sage of Chelsea. William Allingham, in his memoirs, quotes Thomas Carlyle to this effect: "One thing Browning told me the other day was a saying of Huxley's: 'In the beginning was hydrogen.' Any man who spoke thus in my presence I would request to be silent. No more of that stuff, sir, to me! (Angrily.) If you persevere I will take means, such as are in my power, to get quit of you without delay!"

All Festivals Barred. In the early days of the Commonwealth, when the Puritan broom was yet very new, the authorities in English towns went so far as to prohibit all joyous celebrations, and the order was sent through the towns announcing the formal prohibition of festivals.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

The official Government tests show Royal Baking Powder to be an absolutely pure and healthful grape cream of tartar baking powder, and care should be taken to prevent the substitution of any other brand in its place.

With no other agent can biscuit, cake and hot-breads be made so pure, healthful and delicious.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price per pound, and is cheaper and better at its price than any other baking powder in the world. It makes pure, clean, healthful food.

Many Die for Love.

An American statistician who has been investigating the matter says that while single women are more likely to commit suicide than are married women, among men who take their own lives the Benedicts are in the majority. And though it is so often asserted that real love is growing rare nowadays, this statistician declares that love is still the cause of all causes of suicide in both sexes.

Stop That Cough in a Minute

Would you give morphine or chloroform to your baby or take it yourself? Of course not. Yet most patent cough cures contain one or both. They stop a cough in a minute, which is dangerous. A cough should be cured internally by healing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, throwing it out, which is done by coughing. Badger Cough Balsam does not contain morphine or chloroform. It is made by perspiration from bloodroot, lobelia, wild cherry, etc. It cures a cough in a few days without filling the lungs with poisonous phlegm. The irritation is relieved, the lungs healed without danger of pneumonia. It's safe for children or old people. Got a bottle today for 25c. Badger Cough Balsam is made by Mr. Prentiss, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist. Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River streets.

FIRM SHATTERED BY "SANE FOURTH"

Pain Fireworks Company Cannot Meet Debts.

LIABILITIES ARE $160,000

Directors Say Owner Will Not Come Home and Short Season Does Not Pay Any More.

New York, March 16.—The movement for a "Sane Fourth," generally understood to be a systematic attempt to separate small boys from big firecrackers, has put the largest manufacturer of fireworks out of business. The Pain Manufacturing company, a $50,000 corporation, applied to Supreme Court Justice Guy for leave to dissolve and assigned this reason as cause for the proposal. An order calling upon all persons interested to show cause on May 10 why the company should not be dissolved was signed by the court.

"The season for business of the corporation does not commence until June and runs for several months," the directors state in the application. "The most business is done around and immediately prior to July 4."

"Sane Fourth" Hurts Business. "But for the past few years, and since the movement for what is commonly termed a 'Sane Fourth,' has spread over the country, the volume of business done has been so reduced that at present the amount of business the company is able to do is not sufficient to warrant the continuance of business under the belief that the dissolution may be avoided."

The move to dissolve the corporation was made by the majority of the directors, including William J. Hanson, Charles M. Reynolds, Harry Temple and Annette Klefer. Each of these directors holds five of the 500 shares of stock. Henry J. Pain, president of the company, owns 475 shares and James Pain, Jr., has the remaining five shares.

Can't Pay $211 Judgment. By a coincidence it happens that a judgment of $211 recorded last week against the company hastened the move to dissolve. The company could not pay this claim. Then the American Exchange National bank, from whom the company had borrowed $14,000, asked for additional security, although it has already $30,000 worth of the Pain company's assets to secure the loan.

Henry J. Pain, whom the petitioners asked to appear in court, is in London, England, and has failed thus far to accept the most urgent invitations for him to come to New York and take personal charge of his business. The directors who ask for the dissolution are the managers and supervisors of his corporation.

The liabilities of the company are said to be $160,000 and the real estate assets about $30,000.

ANARCHIST ECHO IN MURDER

Stink Morrison, Convicted in London, Is Believed Connected With Houndsditch Gang.

London, March 16.—Stink Morrison was found guilty of the murder of Joseph Heron and sentenced to death. Morrison denied he killed Heron. After the verdict was returned, he exclaimed: "I am innocent. I do not believe there is a God in Heaven."

The police tried to connect the tragedy with the Houndsditch an anarchist burglar gang and the trial was one of the most sensational ever held in London.

The mutilated body of Heron was found on Clapham common early in January. The police theory was that the victim was a member of the Houndsditch crowd, and had been killed for treachery by his associates. The trial occupied nine days. The evidence was wholly circumstantial.

The Precious Stones. The pearl is nothing but carbonate of lime, and vinegar or any other acid will eat away the polished surface in a few moments. As for the opal, hot water is fatal to it, destroying its fire, and sometimes causing it to crack. Soap is a deadly enemy to the turquoise. If a turquoise ring is kept on the hand while washing, in a short time the blue stones will turn to a dingy green.

Latitude for Criminals. Criminals in Buenos Ayres who are sentenced to long terms of penal servitude are frequently released on parole for certain hours each day, so that their private business will not suffer.

To Detect Sewer Gas. The American Analyst gives the following test for the detection in an apartment of sewer gas: Saturate unglazed paper with a solution of one ounce of pure acetate of lead in eight fluid ounces of rainwater; let it partially dry, then expose in the room suspected of containing sewer gas. The presence of gas in any considerable quantity soon blackens the test paper.

Might Live Forever. Taking up Henry Ward Beecher's declaration that "Yellow fever is God Almighty's opinion of dirt," a writer says nobody would die if he could keep perfectly clean.

WHITE MAN'S HOPE WHO MEETS BILL LANG APRIL 16.

San Francisco, Cal.—Jack Lester, the "White Man's Hope" of the north-west, arrived yesterday on route to Australia, where he is expected to make his first great stand against Bill Lang on April 16. Lester was met, introduced and championed by John Grace, the old-time coaching judge and sportsman, who looks upon this youth as the coming heavyweight champion of the world.

The youngster, for he's nothing more, is a Tom Sharkey the second in height, build and general appearance. Judged from a quick glance, Lester possesses all the requirements of a heavyweight bloke.

Lester is not yet 20 years of age, yet he has something like 40 knockouts to his credit. Ever since he was a schoolboy the Washington plant has been dishing with the mite and has fought many times with his bare fists. At the main part of self-defense has been his hobby ever since he was able to strike a boxing pose and he doesn't know what defeat signifies.

"I am being guided by Tommy Burns," says Lester. "The took hold of me a few months ago and showed me a lot about the game. When it was killed off north, Burns advised me to go to Australia and take on the best of them there. I was only ten on my way then, but I would have much preferred to make my start here. I believe that I can beat Lang or any of the other Australians that they send me in against. Burns thinks so, and I am taking his advice. If I did not look for an even break I certainly would not sign the contract to go all the way over to another continent. I hope to beat Lang and the other two, whose names I have not yet learned. If I win I will be back here to challenge the world. I will open to meet any of them, but I would prefer to take on Al Kaufman first. But I don't bar Langford or Johnson in the event that I make good over in Australia. I hope to be back in the United States within the next year and I hope to return with at least three knockouts to my credit."

Lester stands 5 feet 10 inches in his stocking feet and in condition he tips the beam at 155 pounds. He has been gaining steadily in weight, for when he first blossomed out as a ring artist, he used to be able to do the welter weight limit. He was born and raised in the state of Washington and never forsook his stumping ground till he came here.

In practically all of his mixups Lester has scored quick victories. With a good punch in either hand, this young plant has found it comparatively easy to beat down practically every man with whom he has come in contact up to the present time, though he has never stacked up against any stars like Kaufman or Langford.

Burns will sail for the land of the kangaroo within the next week or ten days. He would have accompanied Lester, but for the fact that he has a couple of lawsuits on his hands, and he wants to have them decided one way or the other before taking the long trip.

THE BRONZE BELL

By Louis Joseph Vance

Begins in The Gazette Friday, March 17th

A new story of absorbing interest. You will want to read every line of it. Mr. Vance is one of the most popular authors of the day and his story, "THE BRASS BOWL" which appeared in The Gazette some time ago, was enjoyed as much as any serial story published in many a day.

A strange tale of love and adventure in which a young American figures in many startling episodes in the East Indies, makes "The Bronze Bell" a story to be remembered.

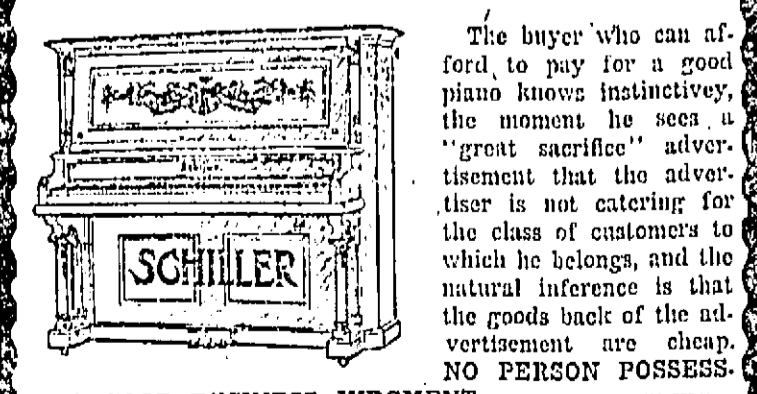

Opening chapters in The Gazette for March 17th.

THE EARLY INDICATION.

The punctual robin soon will sound His vernal note so gay, And every hillside will be found In blossoming array; The wind will lightly drift along Among the waiting trees, But ere we join the welcoming song We'll pause a while and sneeze. And another spring victim.

In Which Class Are You?

The buyer who can afford to pay for a good piano knows instinctively, the moment he sees a "great sacrifice" advertisement that the advertiser is not catering for the class of customers to which he belongs, and the natural inference is that the goods back of the advertisement are cheap. NO PERSON POSSESSING GOOD BUSINESS JUDGMENT so easily gives up his lower their dignity to count the dots in a circle, write a given name two or three thousand times on a postal card, solve a silly puzzle, supply missing letters in a name, or join a mob of over credulous piano buyers.

The Chain of Christian Life

By REV. TRELLORE
Pastor of Calvary Baptist Church,
Houston, Texas

TRINITY—Make a chain; for the land is full of bloody crimes, and the city is full of violence.—Ezekiel 1:22.

Ezekiel is about to pronounce doom upon the people of the upper classes, and in the last part of the verse he speaks of general conditions of the land and city.

I do not propose to discuss the things they were in the days of the prophet. But I would take the expression, "Make a Chain," and let Jesus speak to us as we examine the different links in the chain, knowing as we do so that no chain is stronger than its weakest link.

I would point out to you then the different links in the chain of Christian life and, if possible, strengthen those links so our work the coming year might be more steadfast and as a church and people we might fill the place our Father has assigned us in this part of the city.

First, I would let the links represent things in our individual lives, know that no church can be stronger intellectually, spiritually or morally than are the members of that church.

Here is a link, we will call it the link of love. Do we have it in our lives? "God is love."

John said, "Little children, love one another." Our usefulness as Christians will be determined by our love for God and his cause. By it our work for the church is measured. If the love of God is in our hearts we will be as David when he said "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord." Men shun God's house and never enter it because they do not love God.

Here is a link we will call personal work. How much it is needed in our church to keep the members of the church busy, this should not be necessary and would not be needed if we were all alive to our opportunities.

A great field for personal work lies outside the church, we can go out and find Bible school scholars and bring them in. What a great improvement it would be if every member of our church capable of teaching a class in the school would go out and find the class and bring them into the Bible school and teach them.

This link we will call home mission. It is sometimes misunderstood; we think of our Mexican work or the work in the western states. But while this is true and that is a part of the home mission work, yet I would bring you face to face with the homes in our community, many of them are in need of words of sympathy, some are needing the bread and butter to sustain physical life; others have never accepted Jesus as a personal savior.

Home missions would carry us to the needy communities around us where Bible schools could be organized and chapels built, churches organized, etc.

This much needed work done would mean more for our city, state and nation than we can imagine, brethren. Make a chain and bind together all the important features of our work.

I would put in a link here in the chain which I hope will be strong enough to bring our church up to self-support and pay off our debt. I wish we might all adopt the Bible plan of giving one-tenth of our income to the Lord's work, and in a short time our debt would be gone and home expenses met and we would be looking for new fields to enter for Jesus' sake. I may have left out many links which should be in the chain, but would these and many others together with the great love of God and the power of God, and you will have a chain strong enough to rescue the perishing soul and to make your influence felt around the world.

What use would I make of the chain?

We, as individual members of this church, are links in the great chain that holds this church here in this community, as the great ship is held in place in yonder gulf the anchor's power is measured by the weakest link in the chain that holds the ship; so the power of this church is measured by our strength as individual members of the church.

The church is anchored, a mighty storm is brewing, sin of all kinds are endeavoring to wipe out the influence of the church.

The saloon, which carries with it the bulk of all crimes and makes any land or city, such as the prophet saw when he said in this verse, "The land is full of bloody crimes, and the city is full of violence." This greatest of all foes against the individual, the home, the church and our nation, has been crowded out of north Texas, west Texas, central Texas, and here on the very banks of the Gulf of Mexico the saloon will make its final fight. God grant that his people will make the fight of all fights and drive from our city and state this great enemy of mankind with all its kindred vices, and may the church of Jesus Christ prove true to all that has been entrusted to it.

Cleanliness.
A cake of soap is a means of grace. A five-cent can of lye may do more than a five-dollar Bible.—Rev. J. H. Clayton, Baptist, Washington, D. C.

Nobody wants mere ornaments in this world,—but everybody wants luxury.—Ruskin.

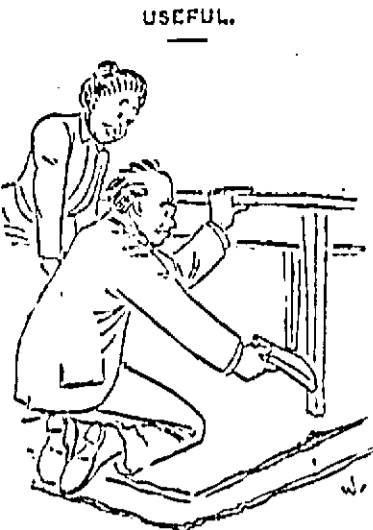

Perfection Unknown.
No man is so tall that he need never stretch, and none so small that he need never stoop.—From the Bible.

THEATER

How dear to our hearts the scenes of our childhood are is eloquently illustrated by the success of "Uncle Josh Sprucey," that hearty and spontaneous comedy drama of rural life which, now in its fourteenth season, comes to Janesville on Saturday, March 18, matinee and evening, with an enlarged company and much new scenery. It brings this year the best hand it has ever taken on its tour. These incidents, attired in the habiliments of country humors, in keeping with the character of the play they will give you a good laugh and a good cry, and another at night, in front of the Myers theatre. The great sawmill scene, the most thrilling piece of stage mechanism ever devised, in one of the features of "Uncle Josh Sprucey," which you will never forget. Be sure and see it.

In 1894, Mr. Walter Damrosch, who had been appointed an impressionist of the Metropolitan Grand Opera House decided that French and Italian opera, which again ruled at the Metropolitan, might be replaced by German and especially the Wagner music dramas. Accordingly, he made an offer for a spring season of Wagner at the Metropolitan and finally the directors of that institution decided that he should have the house. The first season of thirteen weeks made a profit of $53,000 and furnished a delightful chapter in the operatic development of America. In the company were Marie Brema, Rosa Sucher, and Johanna Gadski. In the second season Mr. Damrosch presented two of the greatest Wagnerian artists of that period, Miss Klafey, who has since died, and Miss Tomin. Upon the death of Dr. Damrosch, the young Walter Damrosch had also succeeded to the conductorship of the Symphony Society and after a time he decided to devote himself entirely to this society. Gradually he became convinced that he had entirely outgrown the desire to conduct opera and that only the highest form of his art, the symphony, really appealed to him. Since that time he has given his entire energy and attention to his orchestra, which has, through his efforts, become one of the few self-sustaining orchestras in this country. No other orchestra has covered as many miles of travel as the New York Symphony orchestra and none is better known to the country at large.

"What book have you found most useful?"
"A book of Browning's poems. We have a table with one short leg and the Browning book just fits under it."

POINT OF VIEW.

Mabel—Who was the best man at the wedding?
Jim—I dunno. They didn't fight."

Contentment.

"Contentment," said Uncle Eben, "may be better than riches, but dar'nt no way of negotiatin' it at do landl'rd's office or do grocery sto'."

MORPHINE RELIEVED PAIN THE GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY RESTORES TO HEALTH

For the past few years I suffered greatly from what three physicians called neuritis of the stomach. The doctors treated me with all sorts of success and I called in a fourth doctor, who pronounced my disease gall stones. I suffered intense pain and the only relief the doctor could give me was by injections of morphine. I was so completely discouraged that I had almost given up hope when a neighbor told me about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root. I decided to try it and began its use at once and after taking nine bottles was completely cured, not having a spell of sickness in over two years.

I have so much confidence in Swamp Root that I never fail to recommend it to my friends who may have kidney trouble of any kind. I feel certain that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root saved my life, why should I not do like wise to others who take it in time. You are at liberty to use this testimony at any time.

What Makes a Cream Separator Good Or Bad?

It takes something besides cast iron, red paint and hot air to make a separator that will skim milk clean twice a day, 365 days in the year, for 15 or 20 years.

If some of the farmers who are thinking of buying a cream separator this season and have been half persuaded by extravagant advertising to "save one-third the cost" by buying a machine of the "just-as-good-as-the-DE LAVAL" or the "mail order" kind, could only listen to the experience of a few of the thousands of the users of such machines who have traded them in for DE LAVALS during the past year, they would be forcibly reminded of the old adage which runs, "Save at the spout and waste at the bung-hole."

Before you decide on the purchase of a separator be sure to see and try a DE LAVAL.

It will be only a question of time anyway before you get a DE LAVAL, so why not save yourself a lot of costly separator experience by starting right with a DE LAVAL?

Prominent Churchman Praises Pia- nos of the "Player" Type

Reasons Why One of Our Inner-Player Pianos Should Be in Every Home.

The importance of pianos of the "player" type was the subject of an address delivered recently by Rev. W. A. Bartlett before the Providence Convention of the Religious Education Association. Among other things Dr. Bartlett said:

"The player piano has opened up to the world of music lovers the works of the great masters. Many a youth has become a virtuoso in the interpretation of the most difficult and beautiful compositions of Chopin, who could hardly pick out a simple melody with one finger, but who longed for years to hear the best music. Only a few artists are able to play a wide repertory of music. But we cannot secure them to come into our homes; and even if we could, they would play only such selections as had been recently practiced. The concert or recital means considerable expense, late nights or an afternoon performance which few can attend. And then the selections played are those chosen by the performer and not the listener.

"The player piano becomes the home educator. I have taken children to hear a great performer, and as he played Walter's 'Pine Song' they turned to me smilingly and whispered, 'We play that at home.'

"Ever leading performers are appreciating the value of these instruments. It is no more mechanical than the pipe organ, and by careful study and practice there can be an almost perfect reproduction of human touch and expression. No parent need feel anxious about the boys and girls at night when they are playing the piano with their friends around them.

"Bagtime pieces and light music will do us a diversion, but I have known young people to turn from them to Schubert,
Schumann, Wagner, Mendelssohn and other great composers.
Place the best before them and they will learn to love it."

Do not these words suggest that you could make your home more complete, more cheery with one of our INNER-PLAYER Pianos?

You may not have children to educate but you need a source of entertainment for yourself and friends. And there is nothing better than music—and nothing which makes it easier to have than an INNER-PLAYER Piano.

Our remarkable Inner-Player mechanism has eliminated drudgery of piano practice. You no longer have to train your fingers to manipulate the keyboard. The Inner-Player does the work and yet the musical results are entirely under your control. You can play with correct expression.

Visit our salesrooms and we will show you these pianos and the operation of this device which enables you to play any composition. You can make your choice from many designs in the Inner-Player Piano.

If you have a piano we will accept it as part payment and arrange easy terms for the balance due.

CALIFORNIA, LAND OF THE BOOSTER

LETTER FROM ULYSSES G. WAITE, WHO IS AT RIVERSIDE, THAT STATE.

CLIMATE MAIN FEATURE

Every Town Has Its Boosters Organization—Description of Beautiful Scenic and Climatic Conditions, (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Riverside, Cal., March 10.—One thing that impresses the visitor to the Pacific coast, is the progressive spirit everywhere in evidence. Every town that aspires to a position "on the map"—and I have yet to find one that does not—has its organized body of boosters, and this organization leaves no stone unturned to boost, either the city, or the county, or both. This energetic and enterprising body of business men may be denominated a board of trade, chamber of commerce, commercial club, business men's association, push club, development company, opportunity association, or it may be the county board of supervisors, working through the clerk of the board, or an independent commissioner. No matter what the designation or the location, they are all heard from and that, too, with a frequency that prohibits forgetfulness, and an originality that challenges attention.

In the current number of one of the leading magazines published on this coast, I counted twenty advertisements telling of the advantages of various counties, where the supervisors had turned boosters and were handing out alluring descriptions of the fertility of soil, adaptability of climate, never failing water supply, unparalleled opportunities for success, and the iridescent future of that particular county. In this same magazine, I discovered twenty-eight other advertisements of the booster variety, in which that many cities and towns were held up as containing all the elements that bring success to would be settlers, and urging the tourist, the householder, the capitalist and the artisan to come right there and hang up his hat. These cities and counties were scattered all the way from the Canadian line to the Mexican border, and even one county over in the tempestuous realm of Diaz was represented by a full page ad.

Now I am calling attention to all this to show how readily these people recognize the value of generous advertising. They avail themselves of every opportunity to parade their productions, water supply, commercial advantages, irrigation facilities, and marvelous climate. Here in Southern California this latter feature is perhaps the most valuable asset, and one that all the communities and localities have in common. Personally I consider it the one big thing and the only thing that would ever tempt me away from the unrivaled Rock River valley.

Why talk about productions and business? Splendid old stock country with her corn, and oats, and rye, and barley, and tobacco, and sugar beets, and milk, and butter, and eggs, and high grade live stock, and commodious farm buildings has got this whole section beaten to a frazzle out frazzle and don't any of you readers of the Gazette forget it, not for a minute. Outside of Los Angeles, there is more real business transacted in the cities of Janesville and Beloit than in all the other cities of this entire half combined. Take such towns as Riverside, and Redlands, and Pomona, and Pasadena, and Long Beach. There is not, so far as I have ascertained, one manufacturing enterprise in any of them that approaches the Janesville Machine company in size, value of products, or scope of influence. I did not mention San Bernardino in the above list, because that city is fortunate in being the location of the great Santa Fe railway shops, employing about 1,500 men, and this big enterprise gives that old town more of an eastern atmosphere than can be found in any other city of like class in this section. I will not hold San Bernardino up as the city par excellence, however, for it stands alone in the granting of license to sell intoxicating liquors as a beverage. For be it known that in this corner of the land the principle of no license is firmly entrenched in a decided majority of these smaller cities, and as a result, they make ideal places of residence, with numerous churches, good schools, handsome homes, and excellent libraries.

So if you are well to do and can stand a good pull on the purse strings, by all means spend your winters in some of these clean, residential towns. Or if you are constrained to live from the rigors of the old fashioned winter by reason of physical weakness, come where the birds come not to sing their roundelay, where the breath of December blows on your cheek like the rose scented kiss of June; where you walk by hedgerows of flowering geraniums as high as your head on Christmas day; where you stand forth under skies that rival anything bearing the Italian brand, and where you wander in midwinter through the richly fruited groves of flowerland, lost in wonder and admiration at the amazing environment.

But, unless you are wealthy or wheezy,—just take my advice and stay where you are. I was much interested in what Fred O. Hutchinson wrote to the Gazette from Fresno and I can heartily endorse all that he says regarding a position, and the necessity of having a pocket full of money when you leave the old home. I consider that I have been long enough on the coast to warrant an acquaintance in the remark of the old Long Beach philosopher. During a conversation regarding the advantages of this section, climate was mentioned, and the old man gruffly said:—"Climate? now you've sold it all to me."

CLYDE G. WAITE.

THE Ancient Celtic Phrase
The phrase "the mother's white-headed boy" is as old as the hills in Ireland. It appears in many of the Irish folk stories of the last century. Irish mothers who knew good folkies always kept the secret for the "white-headed boy" of the family. Gerald Griffin, in one of his best short stories, years ago used the phrase as one he had borrowed from an old Celtic book.

Congestion in Schools.
The board of education is considering the matter of relieving the congested conditions in the first, second, third and fourth grades of the schools here, especially the overcrowded condition of the latter two. A special meeting will be called soon to devise ways and means for providing more ample accommodations.

Mrs. James Leachey.
The remains of Mrs. James Leachey of Houghton, Mich., arrived here today over the Milwaukee road and were taken to the home of her son, J. H. Leachey. She was 77 years of age and for many years made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Kittie Whitely, in Houghton. Six children survive, as follows: Mrs. Nellie Thornton, Roswell, N. M.; Mrs. Maudie Folsom, Chillicothe, Mo.; Mrs. Kittie Whitely, and Mrs. Jennie Shields, Houghton, Mich., and James Leachey of Chicago, and John Leachey of this city. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Kinds of West.
The numerous kinds of west of which the effects east solemnly disavow are enough to bewilder a Philadelphia lawyer. It will assure you that besides "the middle west," a phrase it employs continually and with evident pleasure, there are an eastern west, a western west, a northern west and a southern west! Yet there is only one east, and hardly enough of that to swear by.—The Californian.

A Great Character.
A great character, founded on the living rock of principle, is, in fact, not a solitary phenomenon, to be at once perceived, limited and described. It is a dispensation of Providence, designed to have not merely an immediate, but a continuous, progressive, never-ending agency. It survives the man who possessed it; survives his age—and perhaps his country, his language.—Edward Everett.

MILTON FARMHOUSE BURNED YESTERDAY

Small House On Farm of L. S. Borden Southeast of Milton, Was Lost In Flames.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milton, March 15.—The farm house of the L. S. Borden farm, one mile southeast of this village, was burned yesterday. The tenant, H. Holmke, lost most of his household goods. The house was insured in the Janesville Mutual Co., and the loss thereon will be small as the building was old and rather small. The fact that a gale was blowing and the distance from the village, prevented the local fire department from being of service.

To Return Soon.
Late reports from Rochester, Minn., indicate that W. R. Cleland will return home in a few days. The physician removed only a small part of his tongue in the last operation and gave it as his opinion that all of the cancerous growth has been removed and that he will have no more trouble from that diseased tissue. This is certainly good news for Cleland's many friends to hear of.

HOWE'S TRAVELOGUE DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

Packed House Greets Return of Popular Motion Picture Man at the Myers Theatre Last Evening.

The leader in moving picture exhibitions, Lyman H. Howe, is again in the city, and his excellent collection of films, both entertaining and instructive, pleased a large audience at the Myers theatre last night. His outlay of pictures this season are far better than ever before and include examples of the highest type of the motion picture.

For those who never have or never hope to have the opportunity of traveling abroad these pictures furnish a source of "instructive entertainment" that should be taken advantage of. The program last evening included a trip through London, entitled "Living London." All of the most important spots and features of this historic old city were produced in a most vivid manner. Another beautiful film of the colored variety was a trip through the forests of France. Again, many who have never seen a balloon were taken on a balustrade ride through the air on a modern dirigible airship, interspersed among these were films of the comic variety which were excellent.

Other of the best pictures were "Dissolving Portraits of Famous Americans," "Launching of the Olympic," and "Scenes in Indo-China." A matinee performance was given this afternoon and the same program will be presented this evening.

Helen Keller's Dream Country.
I can dream of that happy country of the future, where no man will live at his ease while another suffers; then, indeed, shall the blind see and the deaf hear.—Helen Keller.

Importance of Thoroughness.
Thoroughness in workmanship, rare in the execution of every task undertaken, as if it were the acceptance of a trust which it would be a breach of faith not to discharge well, is a form of duty so momentous that if it were to die out from the feeling and practice of a people all reforms of institutions would be helpless to create national prosperity and national happiness.—George Elliot.

Circumstantial Evidence.
Sir A. Conan Doyle, at the Authors' club Christmas dinner in London, related that in America some colored people were keeping the festival of Christmas and they were told to hang up their stockings at night. One poor fellow had no stockings, and so he hung up his trousers. In the morning he was asked what he had got. He replied: "I guess I got a man, for my pants are gone."

For the Housewife.
Some active women who pride themselves in housekeeping seem to forget that the object of keeping house is that human beings may be accommodated in it. Their sole idea seems to be this, that the house may be kept in a certain form and order; and to the performance of the form and order they sacrifice the comfort the house was established to secure.

Liquors Made Up Into Candy.
"Practically every known liquor, as well as whiskey and brandy, is made up into candy in one form or another," says a well-known confectioner. "You can get in bonbons of various kinds cream de menthe, cognac, kummel, Chartreuse, cherry brandy or Benedictine."

WOMAN'S PAGE

To Our Women Readers.

IT IS VERY evident that the women readers of the Gazette are interested in seeing this paper made the best possible medium for information that can be. Last Saturday the Gazette first published in this space a request to the women readers to express their views on the subject and so much interest has been displayed that it has been decided to increase the prizes to four, making the first prize a Caloric Fireless Cookstove.

The letters received thus far have been full of excellent suggestions as to the making of this page, and even other pages in the paper, more pleasing to the readers. There has been some confusion, however, owing to the list of subjects which were printed. The writers of the articles do not need to confine themselves to the subjects suggested, but can write on any phase of the paper's make-up that they may desire. The list is given merely to suggest a topic for you to write on.

Remember that each article must be plainly written on one side of the paper only and confined to about one hundred words. They must be in the Gazette office by April 1, and should be addressed to the "Feature Editor." If mailed, a two-cent stamp should be placed on the envelope to insure prompt delivery.

The Gazette is anxious to obtain your views on the subject of making its columns more interesting to you and all other women readers, so do not hesitate to express your individual opinions. The Gazette wants you to take a special interest in the paper you read daily by helping to make it more interesting.

Remember the prizes offered for the best four articles on this subject.

FIRST PRIZE—CALORIC FIRELESS COOKSTOVE.
SECOND PRIZE—$5.00 IN MONEY.
THIRD PRIZE—$3.00 IN MONEY.
FOURTH PRIZE—$2.00 IN MONEY.

Have your answers in the Gazette office as early as possible and not later than April 1.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

WITH the approach of the magic twenty-first that gives us the right to consider winter over, whatever the thermometer may try to tell us, our minds turn, as a sunflower toward the sun, toward the new season, summer clothes, summer food and summer fun, and, of course, summer vacations replace our winter thoughts.

It seems to me that to a great many young people who are not fortunate enough to have summer homes the summer vacation is a decided problem. Especially to those of us who have very tired minds and bodies, a scant two weeks to rest them in for the next fifty weeks of strain, and pathetically slender purses with which to accomplish this miracle.

We MUST have rest. We WANT fun and a jolly time. And we simply CAN'T spend a great deal of money.

What then are we going to do with these two weeks?

Now, why can't we help each other?

Why can't you people write and tell me of some especially unique and interesting or restful vacation which you, a girl of moderate means, have taken and let me pass the idea on to your sisters?

I know two girls who have planned a rather unique vacation for this summer. One of them owns a horse and runabout, and so, instead of spending a lot of money for board at some fashionable summering place, they are going to put a few simple clothes and a few good books in a suit case, and with these and the spirit of adventure and determination to have a good time which is indispensable for any good vacation, fare forth some fine June morning on a two weeks' driving trip.

They have planned a trip which will take them through some beautiful country. They will stop occasionally at friends' homes and spend the other nights at country inns.

Have you ever taken or are you planning some such unique little trip? If you have, tell us about it.

Or tell us about the best vacation you ever had and what feature made it so.

It may be some feature that others could incorporate into their vacations. I don't want you to write over two hundred words, but I do want you, if you can possibly think of some good vacation idea to share, to consider the fun you got out of it an obligation to pass it on.

NO COMPROMISE WITH WRONG.

Whoever you are and wherever you are you can't afford to compromise with wrong. Just the moment your conscience—that insistent monitor—takes the question of the right or wrong of a thing, just that moment you should stop and consider—not the present profit of the thing—but the right and wrong of it.

A thing that is wrong has no value when weighed with character and human happiness. In cold figures it may display the value of a kingdom, but if it is wrong the moment it is possessed it crumbles in the hand like David's Goliath.

There can be absolutely no compromise with wrong. No two ways are given except that one must choose either right—peace and contentment, or wrong—unhappiness and discontent. The one attractive all its length; the other attractive at its beginning, but ending in the slough of despair.

Conscience is the monitor placed over our thoughts and actions to tell us when there is a threatened invasion of the enemy. When conscience has given the warning it has done its duty, but it often keeps on with its call in the "still small voice" until it falls asleep from sheer exhaustion over our persistence in not hearing it.

Few people would go wrong if they would listen to the warning thus given. It is because they won't heed it that they so frequently find themselves permanently demoralized in "the House of Trouble." It is human nature to be headstrong and impetuous. It is human nature to want to do the forbidden thing, but it is also human nature to want to do the right thing even when wrong is turning insistently at the arguments.

No child ever came into the world had, human nature is inherently good. All the attributes of human character are essentially good. It is only after intelligence or the powers of observation are awakened that the conflict between right and wrong begins.

It is possible for every one, even though he may have done wrong, to turn about and seek only the right. The world more often forgives the sinner, though it may not forget the sin, than it is given credit for. The only requirement is that one turn entirely from wrongdoing.

Right and Wrong are like two horses starting from a certain point to travel over diverging roads while keeping an identical pace. The longer they travel the further apart they get, and they never, therefore, arrive at a natural meeting point. In a circus one usually sees an equestrian accomplishing the feat of riding on two horses at the same time. That is, by keeping the animals close together and resting a foot on the back of each, but the human being has never been found who could successfully ride Right and Wrong.

Consequently, the man who seeks a compromise with wrong faces sure defeat. He is attempting the impossible. There are many other improbable things he may accomplish, but compromise with wrong is impossible of accomplishment.

Hired Bridesmaids.

A woman in Paris has established an agency for supplying bridesmaids to young women who need such attendants and who have no friends. Each girl receives five dollars for each time she acts as bridesmaid. If the bride wishes her maids to appear in new clothes she has to buy the apparel herself.

When a woman was publishing some time ago her relatives published a detailed description of her. It contained this sentence: "Small toe of each foot missing." As it was very unlikely that both toes had been amputated by accident, some one asked the woman's mother to account for the lost toes.

After a gallant effort to evade the question the old lady reluctantly confessed that her daughter had had the toes severed to enable her to wear very small shoes.

Supper Dishes.

The following are some dishes suitable to serve for an evening supper, or they may be used for luncheon dishes:

Bavory Oysters.—Clean a pint of oysters, parboil and drain. Melt four tablespoonfuls of butter, add the same amount of flour and stir until well browned. Pour on gradually the oyster liquor and a half a cup of onion juice. Salt, pepper and a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce and the oysters. Serve on toast or in patty shells or timbale cases.

Russian Patties.—Parboil, drain and reserve the liquor from a pint of oysters. There should be a half cup of liquor. Make a sauce of three tablespoonfuls of butter, four and a half tablespoonfuls of flour, one-half cup of chicken stock, half a cup of cream and the oyster liquor. When the butter is bubbling hot, add the flour and when well mixed add the other ingredients; add two yolks well beaten, a tablespoonful of horse radish, two tablespoonfuls of capers, salt and pepper. Add the oysters and as soon as hot all the patty shells.

Stuffed Eggs.—Cut four hard-cooked eggs in halves crosswise, remove the yolks, mash and add two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, one teaspoon of vinegar, one-fourth of a teaspoon of mustard and salt and cayenne to taste. Add enough melted butter to make the mixture of the right consistency to shape. Make in balls the size of the yolks and refill the whites. Arrange on a serving dish, pour around one cup of white sauce; cover and reheat.

Eggs poached and served on toast with tomato sauce are very good for a change.

Does Your Back Ache?

If you are a woman and you have this symptom get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound without delay. Backache seems an invention of the evil one to try woman's souls. Only those who suffer this way can understand the wearing, ceaseless misery.

We ask all such women to read the following letter for proof that Mrs. Pinkham's medicine cures backache caused by woman's diseases.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's vittuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness on each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. Ollie Woodall, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made thousands of cures of such cases. You notice we say has cured thousands of cases. That means that we are telling you that it has done, not what we think it will do. We are stating facts, not guesses.

We challenge the world to name another remedy for woman's ills which has been so successful or received so many testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

NEWEST IN SHELL PINS

Designers Turn From Combs to Make Attractive Tortoise Pins for the Hair.

Since the modern coiffure leaves little room for shell combs, tortoise shell designers are bending their energies to making attractive hairpins with heavy heads and curved wavy lines.

One of the newest pins has a pronounced outward curve at the top on the order of a hooked handle. This enables it to slip over the puffs and curls so much worn.

One good looking pin for heavy hair has the top in a semi-circular curve like a double coil. There is no carving, only the handsome marking of fine shell.

Another set of crack tops is divided in four waving bands. Sometimes these are plain shell, those for evening wear studded with brilliants or designs in paste.

New and smart is the bar-shaped top to hairpins. A barrette comes to match. The open lines of these are sometimes plain, again studded with rhinestones or decorations in gold or silver.

A handsome barrette of moderate dimensions is an oblong piece of light shell of exquisite marking studded with entwined scrolls and loops of raised gold dots.

The newest real shell hairpins are quite small and light, as it is no longer fashionable to have the head look like a walking animal. These are lost so easily that the average woman wears imitation shell. The real ones will drop less easily from the hair if the prongs are decidedly curved.

To keep shell in good condition it should be rubbed daily with a piece of chamomile skin to prevent that ugly bluish making headway. When the shell is once dulled it must be sent to the manufacturer for repolishing. If a number of tortoise shell articles are to be polished it will be cheaper to send them direct to a manufacturer of shell goods than to a jeweler.

Origin of Fireworks.

Fireworks originated in the thirteenth century, along with the invention of powder and cannon. They were first employed by the Florentines, and later the use of fireworks became popular in Rome at the creation of the pope. The first fireworks which resemble those which we now nowadays were manufactured by Torre, an Italian artist, and displayed in Paris in 1704.

A Horse Census.

A cavalry authority in Belgium estimates that there are more than 89,000,000 horses in the world. There are 22,000,000 in Russia, while Germany and Austria-Hungary each has more than the British Isles, where it is reckoned there are about 3,000,000.

Sympathy.

Sympathy is the grandest word in the world. It overcomes evil and strengthens good; it dissuades resistance, melts the hardest hearts and draws out the better part of human nature.—George Moore.

A Special Medicine for Kidney Ailments

Many elderly people have found in Foley's Kidney Remedy a quick relief and permanent benefit from kidney and bladder ailments and from annoying urinary irregularities due to advancing years. Isaac N. Regan, Farmer, Mo., says: "Foley's Kidney Remedy effected a complete cure in my case and I want others to know of it." Badger Drug Co.

The Sower and the Reaper.

The man who first enunciates a political doctrine rarely survives to carry it into practical effect. Some people are habitually ahead of their time. They see more quickly than others how a certain innovation might profitably be introduced, but after they have worn themselves out in the cause somebody else usually comes along and gathers the fruit of the agitation. —Providence (R. I.) Journal.

Useless British Territory.

No other empire in the world owns so much absolutely useless territory as the British. Banks Land, Prince Albert Land, Victoria and Baden Land, with hundreds of other arctic islands and lands, are at present quite useless.

Danderine

GROWS HAIR

and we can PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes: "As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, a losing its supply of moisture or nutrients when such occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (as a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it to grow.

Knowlton's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-giving qualities.

One 2-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

FREE To show how quickly Danderine's effects we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends in a free coupon to the KNOWLTON DANDERINE CO., CHICAGO, ILL., with their name and address and five in silver or stamps to pay postage.

Need of Unrestricted Play.

Even in the case of a child it is recognized that this sphere of freedom should enlarge as the child grows. Sully rightly warns: "Nothing is more fatal to will growth than an excess of discipline permeating the whole of a child's surroundings." It isn't best that all play should be under even kindergarten instruction.—Dr. Henry C. King.

Hard Work to Win Success.

What costs a man little usually is worth little. Examining into the great lives and you will find the amount of toll that lies behind them is immense and that every laurel in their crowns was placed there by downright, honest, hard work at the expense of body or brain.

Happy Exit.

A shop in the East End of London has lately been turned into a kind of wax work show. The showman was heard at the entrance the other evening shouting: "Step in, gent; step in! Take my word for it, you will be highly delighted when you come out!"

Women as Poisoners.

In cases of criminal poisoning, a woman is nine times out of ten found to be the guilty party. Poisoning is a feminine crime par excellence. The Hindu practice of condemning young widows to be burned alive on the fires of their husbands was a sort of preventive measure against conjugal poisoning.

Everything Adulterated.

City Girl (who has been to the country).—Don't you know, I think the farmers put preservatives in their products. I saw one scattering some chemical mixture on ground he was preparing for green corn. Later I saw him salting his cattle. I don't think we got any pure food anywhere nowadays.

In These Reckless Days.

"It costs so much more to educate a boy now than it did when I was a kid," sighed Mr. Phiroogle, reluctantly buying another pair of shoes for Tommy. "That's the second pair he's had since school opened."

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

A Cold, LaGrippe, then Pneumonia

Is too often the fatal sequence. Foley's Honey and Tar expels the cold, checks the lagrippe, and prevents pneumonia. It is a prompt and reliable cough medicine that contains no narcotics. "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best cough remedy I ever used and it quickly stopped a severe cough that had long troubled me," says J. W. Kuhn, Princeton, Neb. Just so quickly and surely it acts in all cases of coughs, colds, lagrippe and lung trouble. It is as safe for your children as yourself, and should be used in all cases of croup, whooping cough and measles cough. Refuse substitutes. Badger Drug Co.

For more than three generations The Big Store has served the public of Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois to the very best of its ability. That its business principles are good, that it has best pleased all the people is evidenced by the fact that it has grown to such large proportions.

Today The Big Store stands a unique tribute to the city of Janesville. Its volume of business each year runs up into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Its connections and associations are with the greatest manufacturers, jobbers and importers of the whole world, and because of the large amounts of merchandise necessary to handle in each line, the makers of the very best lines of merchandise in the country are keen to have their goods represented here. For this reason, and because of many price concessions on large quantities, and because of the economy directing the business of the twenty odd departments under one management, we are invariably enabled to offer better values, better qualities and even better prices than is general. These advantages are summed up in our slogan
